COMMERCIAL OFFICE.

As there will be a great desire to know the result of the election to-day, we have made such arrangements as will enable us to announce the returns from our office as soon as received over the wires. The telegraph wires will be extended into the Commercial office, and a connection made with the principal wires East and West, so that we will have the returns simultaneous with their transmission.

The question of choosing a successor to Richard Swain Gay, late Superintendent of common schools of Pennsylvania, is now the most important political question of the day. Shall the office be made political, or shall it be filled by the appointment of a competent man, without reference to politics? Shall the office be made the reward of political services, or shall it be filled by the appointment of a man who is competent to discharge the duties of the office? Shall the common schools of the State be managed in the interest of the people, or in the interest of politicians? Shall the schools be managed by a man who is a friend of education, or by a man who is a friend of the party in power? Shall the schools be managed by a man who is a friend of the schools, or by a man who is a friend of the Democratic party? Shall the schools be managed by a man who is a friend of the schools, or by a man who is a friend of the Republican party? Shall the schools be managed by a man who is a friend of the schools, or by a man who is a friend of the Union party? Shall the schools be managed by a man who is a friend of the schools, or by a man who is a friend of the Constitutional party

GOOD TO END WELL.

We trust our friends in every district in Allegheny county, and in every county in the State, will send in the result of Tuesday's election as early as possible. Telegraph to us as soon as the result is ascertained.

We believe that Seymour's sun will not shine out forever clouded in the Presidency and Vice-Presidency of the United States. The arguments pro and con. are all before the people. They have been presented with an elaborateness unequaled in our political history. It will be a misfortune and consolation forever, as exist in its influence on our future career scarcely less in magnitude than the surrender of the armies of the great rebellion.

To what has been said to animate Republicans to their duty we can add nothing—we are confident that nothing need be. Voting only remains to be done. And unto this, we can only urge that Republicans permit nothing to detain them from the polls. To leave voted for Grant in future time will be an honor little less than to have participated with him in the closing campaign of the war. That none of us miss it, in voting is the first business of the day. This done and the diligence in bringing out the entire Republican vote and insuring a fair election, our whole duty will be done.

THE Cuba question, the probable settlement of the Alabama claims, by England agreeing to pay the American demand at an early day.

AT outer market in New York is expected henceforth. The recent stringency has seemed to knock down prices of provisions generally, and in some instances the holders thereof. A better state of things is likely to follow.

JOHN BIGH, sitting at Nos Prime, in Philadelphia, yesterday, decided that all naturalization papers bearing the signature of J. Rose Sweetzer, dated between September 25th and October 13th, are illegal, and should be rejected at the polls. Election officers everywhere should bear this in mind.

RECEIPTS from the South are gloomy enough for low water order. It is a solemn truth that scarcely anywhere in the South have Union men any rights. In New Orleans a bloody riot is expected to-day. If Seymour and Blair do not carry every Southern State, it will be only because the New Rebellion is not supreme yet in some of them.

RECEIPTS from distant counties in Western Virginia continue to come in slowly, but better and better. The Wheeling Intelligencer of yesterday says: "Correcting the figures and adding to our feeling of Saturday, we find that reports from fifty-one counties give a Republican majority of 4,735."

IN NEW YORK unrepentant Democratic politicians have been indicted for inciting fraudulent colonization papers. Thomas Cornwall, Sunbury City, has been held to bail for the same offense. In Columbia, similar cases are on the carpet, and altogether, we should say that in different parts of the country not less than fifty leading Democrats are passing through a similar ordeal. The party appear to have reduced these frauds to a system, and relied on them to carry the November elections.

THE question to be decided to-day are simply these. Shall treason and theft live govern the country, or shall they terminate in well deserved offenses, or shall the traitors so suffuse who commit those decisive punished? Shall the citizens of the United States be protected in their various occupations and undisturbed while effecting their conventions in every part of the Union, or shall they be subjected to outrages and free speech be denied them? In a word, shall treachery, ignorance and cowardice, or justice, intelligence and humanity rule? This is the day which is to decide those questions.

THE means to approach the administration of General Grant, the more desperate the efforts of the Ku Klux of the South. Murder, pillage and arson are the sole weapons adopted by the disappointed enemies of the government. The news from every Southern State cannot fail to impress the reader with the conviction that the Ku Klux are availing themselves of the last opportunity to wreak their vengeance upon the avowed friends of order and good government.

The ferocity which characterizes these attacks cannot fail to produce an effect, little dreamed of by those who instigate them.

When the hand of the outraged party rises, the outcast in public opinion at the South will consign the authors of the long list of bloody murders and outrages to infamy. The course they have pursued has forever deprived them of the sympathy of law abiding, Union loving people.

THE Democratic journals can inspire a considerable amount of chilliness. A Democratic exchange asks: "Why is it that, with a standing army of 40,000 men, crime is as rife and has such impunity? Of what use is an army if it cannot insure tranquility?" The question is easily answered. In fact, as a general thing, all the Democratic chilliness propounded with the most struggling simplicity and stupidity, are exceedingly simple efforts in the eyes of honest people. The above, for instance, merits an answer that can be comprehended by the stupid lords that destined it. The Commander-in-Chief of the army is now Andrew Johnson. A course is not in harmony with the laws made for the government of the country. He is inclined to favor the Democratic party, and protects instead of punishing great criminals. During the interval we are backed by the Commander in Chief—unless the Administration is so figured, the influence of the office will always more than overbalance the power of the former. If any Democrat doubts the solution to-day, he will not do it over three months from now.

"To an able economist in the surrounding corner, to-day's election is of little importance."

This is the rallying cry of the Rebel Tribune, Pendar is certainly. Union loving men. We do not deny the truthfulness of the assertion; we merely ask the reader to analyze the motives of those who adopt this or their sentiments, and ponder whether they differ from the sentiments that led to the rebellion. Whatever cause the Democracy of the North have pressed and they have been unflinching enough, there can be no questioning the fact that a single sentiment inspires the South-ern ranks. They are bent upon making the most of their last opportunity. The Rebel Tribune wields an influence second to no other journal in the southwest, thereby rendering the avowed aims of to-day's election. Who that reads this pleas warning can rest easy until he has studied the spirit which animates it? Certainly he who permits the sun to go down without performing what is always his duty in the Commons, is unworthy of the rights of suffrage. The patriotic should avoid themselves to-day to the fullest extent possible. In the name of the country's future welfare, in the name of law and in no other, can we plead the loyal party which will threaten the government.

ORDERED TO RANSOM BOOKS.

P. M. Wager, Esq., filed a bill in equity of Thomas S. Young vs. Peter Donnelly. The bill recites that Young is a citizen of the Northern Ward, and that on the 25th of October, '68, he was elected Judge of Election in that ward; that the proper books of the election, viz: the assessment book, the list of taxables, and the list of such persons as should be assisted to hold the election, were delivered to him and used on the day of election, for the Presidential election of November, for the Presidential electors, Peter Donnelly, Wm. Wilkins, and others, were elected on the 4th of November, and the said assessment book, list of taxables, and list of such persons as were assisted to hold the election, were delivered to the said Donnelly, who refuses to deliver the same to the plaintiff, although requested so to do, and prays that the defendant may be ordered to deliver the said books to the plaintiff, and also that the defendant may be restrained from using the said books, and from using the assessment list of taxables, and the list of such persons as were assisted to hold the election, on the 4th of November, for the Presidential electors, and from voting on the same, and from using the said books, and the said assessment list of taxables, and the list of such persons as were assisted to hold the election, on the 4th of November, for the Presidential electors, at the election to be held on the 3d of November, inst., and that the defendant may be restrained
